5. PROGRAM WEEK 2

5.1 PLENARY LECTURES† FOR WEEK 2, 9:00 – 10:30

Monday, July 24

Meaningfulness with John Newbauer
“Human beings live in the realm of meanings. . . . No human being can escape meanings.” (A. Adler, 1931). As we live, we create meaning in our lives and we rarely ask ourselves what life means or what is life for. Let’s explore this idea of meaningfulness together, even though we know we won’t get it “right.”

Tuesday, July 25

The Crucial Cs – What are they and why do we need them? with Betty Lou Bettner
Adler gave us the theory; Dreikurs moved the theory to application; and The Crucial Cs provide an easy path to connect them.

Wednesday, July 26

IP and Other Approaches with Richard Watts
Alfred Adler’s influence on current counseling and psychotherapeutic practice is greater than that of Freud’s because so many of Adler’s ideas were revolutionary and far ahead of his time. This presentation will discuss the enormous common ground between Individual Psychology (IP) and many contemporary approaches to counseling and psychotherapy and address how IP serves as an outstanding foundation for theoretically consistent and technically eclectic/integrative practice.

Thursday, July 27

Healthy Living: Mind-Body-Spirit with Marion Balla
Both Adler and Dreikurs wrote and lectured about holistic health and the importance of recognizing the embeddedness of our lives from the perspective of Body, Mind and Spirit. We own the responsibility to be conscious of our wellbeing on all levels. Through exploration of the life tasks, early childhood messages regarding health and wellbeing and the creation of patterns and choices we can ensure more balance and mindful daily living.

Friday, July 28

Where We Go From Here with Paul Rasmussen (Moderator)
We are facing a time in our civilized history where Adlerian Principles are more important than ever. In this plenary session, multiple presenters will talk about the future of Adlerian theory and the role of all of us in making the world a better place.

5.4 COURSE DESCRIPTIONS FOR WEEK 2

Type A Courses: Week 2†
Mornings (11:00 - 13:00)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>English Courses</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A401, Abramson, Zivit – Why am I still Single?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The course will deal with an interesting phenomenon: Many people feel they would very much like to be part of a couple, to have a partnership, but it does not happen. They are still single. There are many obstacles that are unknown to a person but can prevent him or her from becoming part of a mutually committed couple. We shall discuss those possible obstacles. Participants will be encouraged to volunteer for demonstrations of work with individuals stuck in this position of being single in spite of wanting to change this.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A402, Balla, Marion – Intergenerational Patterns</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>This course investigates the relationship between family myths, values, and current life problems. Participants will investigate their personal genograms and assess the impact of family patterns through the generations. Through the application of early recollections and life tasks, belief systems related to generational family patterns will be discovered.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

A403, Bitter, James – Practicing Lifestyle Assessment: The Key to Therapeutic Practice

Adler challenged the Freudian model (the psychology of possession) by focusing on a psychology of use and the style of living each individual adopted in a personal movement toward self-selected/self-created (life) goals. Today, this movement is called lifestyle or one’s style of living. This workshop teaches a process for lifestyle assessment and the use of this process in therapeutic practice.

A404, Bluvshtein, Marina – Fundamentals of Adlerian Psychology

This course will introduce participants to fundamentals of Adlerian Psychology, its historical context, major theoretical assumptions, and practical usefulness in a contemporary world. Adlerian understanding of humankind and human nature will be discussed through Adler’s life story. Adlerian assumptions will be learned experientially, with participants actively practicing these concepts in class.

A405, Ferguson, Eva Dreikurs – Individual Psychology in the Workplace

Adlerian psychology helps improve human relationships in all settings, including the workplace. Workplace solutions are applicable also to problems in the family and school. Participants’ own work problems are discussed. Work roles, conflict resolution, group dynamics, and personality variables are viewed within the Adler-Dreikurs framework. (1+2)

A406, Joosten, Theo – Cooperative Problem Solving

In families, community or professional settings, people meet problems. This course will explore practical ways of helping each other find encouraging solutions to these social challenges. The language and the incident method will get special attention. Participants will be able to apply the incident method. Case examples provided by the participants will be used.

A407, Millar, Anthea – Becoming a Supervisor

This practical class is designed for all helping professionals who wish to develop their supervision skills, whether working in social and health care, early-years services, coaching or therapy. Drawing on Adlerian theory and practice, we will focus on building a supervisory relationship that combines equality and authority, ensuring ethical practice through encouragement and effective feedback, and the use of creative methods, particularly in relation to Lifestyle issues.

A408, Rasmussen, Paul – Adaptive Reorientation Therapy

In this course, Adler’s notion of reorientation as the primary focus of treatment is presented. Participants are taken through the components of the theory, identification of the desired state and strategies for promoting reorientation.

A409, Schafer, Alyson – Adlerian Parenting Today!

Today’s parents face new challenges that Adler and Dreikurs could never have anticipated. Pokemon GO, snapchat, texting, standardized testing and job scarcity were not part of the parenting landscape then. This course will provide parents with an overview of democratic parenting, principles for child guidance, and the application of our principles to modern family issues. Bring your questions! Group work and demonstrations

A410, Shifron, Rachel – Early Recollections, the Therapist’s Treasures

ERs are metaphors, a creative way to describe accurately the patient’s current emotional state. The metaphoric language is essential for the development of a mutual language between the therapist and the patient. The creative way of working with ERs will be the main theme of this workshop. This workshop is open for therapists and counselors and teachers who work with individuals, couples and family.
A411, Sperry, Jon – Adlerian Case Conceptualization

Case conceptualization is considered by many to be the most important competency expected in clinical practice today. This presentation describes a step-by-step strategy and process for developing a concise, accurate, and compelling case conceptualization and treatment plan based on the client's basic pattern of movement which integrates other key Adlerian constructs.

A412, Walton, Frank – Counseling Families With Children Who Meet ADHD Criteria

An overview of conclusions of prominent scientists with regard to use of drugs for treatment of children who meet the ADHD criteria will be presented. The instructor will explain and demonstrate how an underdeveloped sense of community feeling and mistaken approaches to life frequently influence children to manifest behavior that meets the criteria for the ADHD diagnosis. Specific techniques for working with these parents and children will be demonstrated. Small group discussion will be an integral part of this course.

English-German Courses*

A413, Landscheidt, Uti – Psychology in the classroom

Worldwide we see a shift towards teaching in classrooms as Dreikurs' theory already taught us years ago: merely knowing how to teach subjects is not enough, you have to know how to teach students. In this course we talk about hidden goals, encouragement, class meetings, the role of the teacher as group leader, democratic methods and many other aspects.

A413, Landscheidt, Uti – Psychologie im Klassenzimmer

*The course is bilingual, unless all participants in the course agree it can be one language.
†Educational Objectives are found on the website www.icassi.net

Children and Youth Program

A420, Personal Development for Youth Ages 12-17, Shoham, Yoav

This course is for youth aged 12-17 to facilitate the growth of self-understanding and to increase social interest and community-oriented behavior.

*Please note: The youth registered in this course may also participate in an early morning recreation program from 8:45 until 11:00.

A421, Children’s Program (Early Morning and Morning), Irvine, Magnus; Williams, Alison; Cice, Joe

This program will offer athletic, art, music and play activities. Adlerian child-rearing and classroom management principles will be used.

*Please note: The program runs through Early Morning and Morning. Parents bring their children to the program at 8:45.
Type A Courses – WEEK 2†
Afternoons (14.30 - 16.30)

English Courses

A501, Abramson, Zivit – Adlerian Counseling and Psychotherapy: Structure, Goals, How it is done
This course will give in a nut shell the structure of Adlerian counselling or therapy with individuals. What does an Adlerian do that is different from other schools? What goals do we really want to achieve with our work? How do we go about it? There will be demonstrations of a typical session, and for this participants will be asked to volunteer.

A502, Balla, Marion – Family Dynamics in Action
This course offers participants an opportunity to understand a holistic approach to family patterns and their impact in the present day. The use of early recollections, birth stories and family sculpting will be presented in hands-on, movement-oriented exercises. Open to Youth.

A503, Bettner, Betty Lou – Couple Enrichment
Intimate relationships are often described as the most difficult. This relationship requires cooperation and respect of two different perceptions of self, others, and life. It is the meeting of two different sets of private logic. Let’s explore this relationship in terms of goals, hopes, expectations, choices, wants vs. needs, emotions, and methods for resolving conflicts. This course is open to individuals, couples, and those who work with couples or are interested in the topic.

A504, Bitter, James – Working with Families: An Adlerian Approach
Adlerian family counseling was developed and systematized by Rudolf Dreikurs and carried into the world by his many student/colleagues, including Oscar Christensen and Manford Sonstegard. This is an experiential workshop using Dreikurs’ model in multiple family consultation demonstrations. Interventions include assessments of family constellation, mistaken goals, typical days, goal disclosure, and the use of encouragement and natural and logical consequences. Open to Youth.

A505, Holder, Jim – Purposefulness of Substance Abuse
From an Adler-Dreikurs perspective, participants will learn how private logic formulates the psychological underpinning and purposefulness of substance abuse, thereby influencing how an individual’s genetics are incorporated in daily living and movement toward a goal.

A506, John, Karen – Social Equality in Action
Social equality requires new ways of leading and relating, yet we struggle to exercise our rights and responsibilities effectively. We look at leadership approaches, what prevents us from using our ‘good authority’, and explore feelings and actions that undermine democratic living. Working cooperatively in teams and using ERs and psychodrama, we will strive to achieve social equality in action. Open to Youth.

A507, Millar, Anthea – Working with Loss and Grief
In this practical course for helpers, we will look at the many different types of loss and the varied ways we may grieve depending on our Lifestyle. Using an Adlerian framework, we will explore therapeutic approaches to working with clients experiencing both normal and more complex grief, whilst gaining a further understanding of our own attitudes and beliefs around loss.
A508, Newbauer, John – Early Recollections (ERs), Metaphors and Fictions in Therapy, Supervision and Consultation

Adlerians are often trained to use ERs to understand life style. ERs are metaphors that guide our behaviors and decisions. Much of life is based on fictions derived from these ERs. This workshop will help participants understand ERs, identify metaphors, and work with them in therapy and supervision. Participants' own ERs and those of their clients will be used.

A509, Shoham, Yoav – Encouragement: Overcoming Stressful Situations

This program has been planned especially for ICASSI and is designed to teach coping strategies in daily stressful situations. Using Adlerian encouragement principles in various creative ways, enables us in dealing with daily life pressures.

A510, Tate, Bruce – Creativity and Private Logic

Fiction is a key concept within Individual Psychology. Use is made of elements of fiction in helping clients understand their lifestyle and in creative therapeutic approaches. We will explore our basic fictions and how we can make use of them within our own lives, through presentation, discussion and experiential exercises. No prior knowledge of Adlerian theory is required.

A511, Hillenbrand, Andrea – Diet Fiction

When it comes to eating and dieting, we are faced with a lot of fictions. Dieting will help you lose weight, life will be wonderful when you finally lose weight. Really? As Adlerians we understand that it is all fiction indeed. In order to change our eating behavior we must understand our goals and the personal role of eating, weight and body in our lifestyle. We will do so by using Early Recollections and observing our own eating behavior. Open to Youth.

A511, Hillenbrand, Andrea – Essen, Ernährung, Diät - Fiktion oder Wirklichkeit*

*The course is bilingual, unless all participants in the course agree it can be one language.
†Educational Objectives are found on the website www.icassi.net
A601, Buck, Hala – Integrative Adlerian Art Therapy: Understanding Self to Understand Others
Art therapy, early recollections and the body – Adler’s “physical speech” is a powerful way to explore issues of belonging and differentness. In an increasingly multicultural world, we need not only to understand others’ belief systems and world views, but explore our own cultural identity as well. This is central to cross-cultural understanding, social equality and competence.

B602, Watts, Richard – Creative Interventions for Brief Therapy
Brief therapy approaches are increasingly in demand and many professionals are practicing in agencies and schools where they are expected to work with many clients and students in specific, time-limited frameworks. Due to this, many professionals are seeking effective and easy-to-use methods for assisting clients in achieving fast and lasting behavioral change. In this course, participants will learn (via discussion, demonstration, and practice) various Adlerian techniques uniquely suited for work in brief counseling, guidance, and therapy setting. In addition, selected techniques from other approaches that are useful in an Adlerian brief therapy context will be included.

Children and Youth Program
A520, Youth Recreation, 12-17 year olds, Hofstra, Pauline
Youth 12-17 from various countries will together determine the activities (games, art, drama, music, photography, etc.) to be engaged in during the session, using an interactive decision-making model. Activities focus on connecting with one another and developing capabilities in collaboration and team (play) work. Games are cooperative in nature and focus on including all participants.

A521, Children’s Recreation, Wee, K, Oldenburg, I
Come and have fun with us! Children will be offered art, music, athletic activities and games in a class that uses Adlerian child-rearing and classroom management principles. Small group meetings will give children the chance to plan activities.
