What is the Rudolf Dreikurs Summer Institute?

The Rudolf Dreikurs Summer Institute is an educational program of the International Committee of Adlerian Summer Schools and Institutes (ICASSI). It is the only two-week international summer institute specializing in the psychology and teachings of Alfred Adler and Rudolf Dreikurs. We are pleased to continue to offer the highest standards of professional training and personal development opportunities. For more than 40 years, this annual program has brought together professionals, individuals and families from at least 20 different countries each year to participate in an in-depth learning experience unlike any other.

A Brief History of ICASSI

Rudolf Dreikurs established ICASSI and the Summer Institute in 1962. Dreikurs created ICASSI because of his ongoing dedication to spreading the teachings of Adler to people around the world, not only as a psychological method of treatment, but as a philosophy of life. In his early days of practicing psychiatry in Vienna, Dreikurs saw the need to extend his office into the community. He was convinced that use of Adlerian education methods in the home and in the school would enable children to reach a higher level of functioning. He believed they would develop a greater sense of their own strength and ability, and would learn the responsibility of citizenship in a free world. He was also convinced that prevention was more important than treatment. He visualized the acceptance of "social interest" among a steadily widening group of people world-wide, who would experience living in harmony and peace.
