

Adlerpedia.org

Free and Open Access to Information on Adlerian Approaches and their Applications
A Forum to Engage Adlerians World-Wide in Pursuit of Common Goals

Learn and access

- Access, download, or add information on basic and advanced concepts
- Engage other professionals in discussions to further enhance your skills
- Learn about Adlerian research and suggest topics
- Understand Alfred Adler's influence on current philosophies of psychology
- Learn more about past and current Adlerians and their work
- Access a searchable bibliography of Adlerian published works

Contribute

- Add information
- Pose or answer questions
- Share your research ideas and interests
- Contribute information on Alfred Adler's influence
- Suggest biographical information of interest
- Set up your own People page so others can learn about your work as an Adlerian
- Add information on your Adlerian-oriented organization, business, and association for others to learn more about your areas of focus

Use as a Teaching Resource

- Use Adlerpedia.org for student assignments
- Encourage students to participate in current discussions
- Give additional credit for students to add information to the database

Donate

- Donate collections of materials that may otherwise be lost! The Center will create a digital copy of materials free of copyright restrictions and add them to Adlerpedia.org. The Center will also forward physical materials to the Cummings Center for the History of Psychology at the University of Akron for inclusion in its archives. For more information, contact Dr. Jay Colker at jcolker@adler.edu.
- Support Adlerpedia.org by making a gift at adler.edu/givenow. Under Gift Designation, select Center for Adlerian Practice and Scholarship.

Contact us

adleriancenter@adler.edu

Dr. Jay Colker

Director, Center for Adlerian Practice & Scholarship

jcolker@adler.edu

312.213.3421

Dr. Jon Carlson

Distinguished Professor, Adler University

jcarlson@adler.edu

414.801.7942

---

Adlerpedia.org is sponsored by the Center for Adlerian Practice and Scholarship at Adler University. The site will never be used for any commercial purpose. All information on the site (except where copyright restrictions apply) will remain open and available. Upon written request, the Center will as promptly as possible remove any information deemed objectionable or inaccurate. In the event of loss of funding for the site, Adler University maintain viability of the site and its digital archive of all materials to the greatest extent possible.

